B

Redefining what is possible

We do not rely on off-the-shelf products or insurer wordings, we design our own products to benefit our clients, ensuring we deliver a high level of protection that precisely matches clients' needs in fast developing ever changing Digital Assets space.

C

Blockchain and Digital Assets Insurance

An increasing number of companies are involving themselves within the digital assets sector and integrating Blockchain technology into their business models, creating elevated risks that are more misunderstood than ever before. Many of these new business activities require a re-examination of the way current insurance policies react and exploration of how new emerging policies can mitigate the risks associated with business activity in this sector.

Within the Digital Assets sector, clients fall into varying fields all of which carry differing risks. Clients therefore require different coverages, and an intrinsic understanding of this diverse ever-changing sector is needed.
